Docket Text:

ORDER: The Court is considering the dispute among Class Counsel and certain third-party claims filing companies regarding disclaimer language proposed by Class Counsel in its [6236] response to my January 13, 2014 Order for inclusion in third-party claims filing companies solicitations. Whatever language is approved, the Court is inclined to also require it to be included not only on initial solicitations made to members of the merchant class but also on any contracts drafted by third-party claims filing services to be signed by class members. Any persons or entities, including Class Counsel and claims filing companies, wishing to be heard on this issue may do so in writing on or before March 12, 2014. Class Counsel are directed to post a copy of this Order on the website for the case and to serve a copy forthwith on the claims filing services listed in [6127] document 6127-2. Ordered by Judge John Gleeson on 2/25/2014.
